

We are looking for a skilled Database Engineer to design, implement, and maintain our organization's databases. The ideal candidate will have a solid understanding of database management systems such as MySQL, PostgreSQL, or MongoDB, as well as experience with database design, optimization, and administration. Strong SQL proficiency is required, along with the ability to develop efficient data models and implement data security measures. Experience with cloud-based databases and knowledge of NoSQL databases is a plus.